NEW YORK, Aug. 5.-Today's was ing was dominated by a common motive, but the consequent technical effects were more pronounced than they have been at any time since the motive in question-namely, the great steel strike-first began to engress attention. The trading ing of stocks for both accounts.

Actual liquidation was noted through-out the dist and in virtually every quarter of the market. No evidences of concerted support could, on the other hand, be detected anywhere. There were, indeed, fairly large buying orders executed in the Steel stocks, Pennsylvania, and in me other instances, but it was impossible to say whether these orders were for one speculative account or the other. Government Bonds. Influence as regards the course of the stocks in which they appeared.

The initial declines in the United States Steel issues amounted to 3½ per cent in the common stock and 2½ per U. S. 2's, C. 1900-30, Q. J. 1074, 1084, 109 cent in the preferred, and the rallies from those low points were no more than trivial. No further intelligence throwing light on the probable duration of the labor difficulties in the steel trade could be had today, and it does not seem probable that any definite information will The stock market yesterday showed more be had today, and it does not seem probable that any definite information will be immediately forthcoming. Presumably everyone interested in stock market affairs is now familiar with the upshot of Saturday's meeting between the executive board of the Amalgamated Association and the representatives of the United States Steel Corporation. The parties to the conference were utterly unable to reach an agreement as to terms of settlement, and the general strike situation rests now exactly as it did prior to the preliminary conference of last Saturday wick.

Nothing more can be said of that situation than that the whole question has now finally narrowed down to a test of endurance between the United States Steel Corporation and those of its employes electing to cast their fortunes with the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers. There can be no possible doubt as to the issue of the contest, but in the meantime much hardship and suffering must result. The sharcholders of the Steel Corporation will probably have to face the spectacle of declining prices fer their investment. Thus for it must be said that the stock market has not reflected the employment of the $10,000,000 fund which according to Mr. Shaffer, had been raised for the purpose of protecting the Steel stocks in the market. In the

for their investment. Thus for it must be said that the stock market has not reflected the employment of the $250,000.00 fund which, according to Mr. Shaffer, had been raised for the purpose of protecting the Steel stocks in the market. In the meantime it may be assumed that the steel workers will continue to hold out until their financial resources have been exhausted, about which time negotiations for peace may be looked for.

To no small extent the pronounced weakness in today's stock market was owing to apprehensions lest the strike should become more general than it is now, and also lest its progress should be marked by outbreaks of violence on the part of the men. The first source of uncastless would not appear to be well grounded, but developments in the latter respect do not seem improbable, as matters now stand. The general stock market weeks as one stock market weeks as the second in the latter respect do not seem improbable, as matters now stand. The general stock market weeks ago are reached.

Some fear is expressed regarding the financial situation is connection with the high sterling exchange rates and the large increases in loans recorded in the last two bank statements. Some of the financial experts are beginning to say that the United States has no credit balance in its favor in Europe despite the immense trade balance. It is impossible to prove the presence or the absence of a credit balance, but it would seem probable that some considerable portion of the trade balance of the past five years must remain in the form of money due this country. For the present there should be no main in the form of money due this country. For the present there should be no fear of gold shipments at his rate. The movement of money to the West will begin shortly and this item in the situation is the only one really to be worried over. Rates were carry yesterday. The reserves held by the banks have been greatly strengthened during the past few weeks, and it is not probable that any great stringency will e felt. The outlook is not good for any important upward movement in stocks; however.

Steel common stock went down to 40 U. S. Elec. Light, Cert. Indept, 21 and closed at that figure. The preferred closek broke through 90 getting to 30%, but was not allowed to go below that figure, and closed there. It was very evident that an order to buy both securities, unlimited as to amount, hear been given. Mr. Keene's brokers made nearly all the purchases. It is thought that an attempt may be made by the bears this morning to rush the prices of the Steels 500 w the closing prices of last night. It is not impossible that in this event the syndicate may allow a further recession of a point or two and less give its support, but this does not seem in the less tortain, and conservative people do not look

NATIONAL BANK STOK t, and conservative people do not look much lower prices.

The bears in the grangers were aided in their attacks by a sharp advance in the price of corn. They took advantage of this to hammer, the entire group, but especially St. Paul, Union Pacific, and Atchison common. St. Paul broke to 155 and closed only half a point above the bottom. Union Pacific broke to 805 and elosed at 805, and Atchison common broke to 605, and closed at 805. The theory of the short is ling in these stocks was that the Government report will be a very poor one as far as corn is concerned, and that this should be discounted.

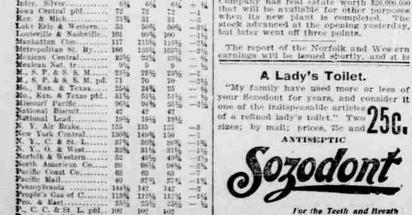

The Eries, the Readings, and to a lesser extent the Southern Railway securities, and some other Morgan stocks, were sold by the hears and by associative invocators also on the theory that support may be withdrawn from them in order that all of Mr. Morgan's ammunition may be expended on the Steel issues. The Southern Railway stocks held their own fairly well, and it is not thought that they will go off much, as the cuttook for the South is excellent. The coal securities too, are not likely to have much of a tumble with the coal business in such a healthy condition.

It is said that the Consolidated Gas Company has real estate worth $2,680,000 that will be available for other nurposes when its new plant is completed. The stock advanced at the opening yesterday,

The New York Curb Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 5,-The market for utside securities was extremely quiet today. There was very little demand for stocks, which resulted in a decidedly preferred declined P4 and P5 per cent, respectively, while Continental Tobacco 4s lost 2 per cent on light dealings. Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis stock and Markeen Copper were also weak. The bank stocks were neglected.
